

Anzac Youth Award

Alfriston College

Over the past year, students from Alfriston College have re-created the landscape of 1915 Gallipoli in Minecraft®, working with Auckland Museum staff. This project involved the students working to a brief to create an education resource that could be used in schools by teachers and students and help young people to connect and learn about the events in Gallipoli.

“The Gallipoli in Minecraft® Project has been so successful in connecting and engaging young people that an exhibition has been created directly from the work of the students and is being shown at Auckland Museum.”
