Aotearoa Youth Leadership Institute

The Aotearoa Youth Leadership Institute is a volunteer-run organisation that exists to connect young New Zealanders to opportunities that grow their leadership skills.

The Institute is training and inspiring a new generation of New Zealand leaders by giving them the opportunity to attend the world's most significant international conferences.

“Participants have had life-changing personal experiences: they have addressed the UN, been offered internships, and learned from international leaders in government, policy, industry and civil society.”
