Gabby Devine

Over the last two years Gabby put smiles on the faces of kids with cancer by sending them boredom boxes, giving out super hero capes, and handing out goodies on the ward all the while going through cancer treatment herself. Gabby created a Facebook page called "Starlit HOPE" which provides random acts of kindness to oncology families in Starship and New Plymouth hospital. Sadly Gabby passed away recently.

“The impact Gabby and Starlit HOPE has made is huge! It’s hard to put into words until you see the light in the kids eyes when they received the gifts from Gabby, even such a small act of kindness makes a massive difference when it comes to the children dealing with this challenging sickness.”
