

Youth Champion Award

Raven Maeder

Raven developed a youth based, interschool environmental actions group, Nelson Youth Climate Action, after attending New Zealand's first Youth Climate Summit in 2012. The Nelson Youth Climate Action Group now has 130 online members.

Raven has taken on a very active and positive role towards making youth aware of environmental issues and the actions they can take.

“Raven is one of those young people who is respected by all age groups. She is completely selfless. She is most concerned about causes, especially environmental and showing youth how they can make a difference in a positive and constructive way.”

